Joint Statement from Kansas City Sports Organizations

KANSAS CITY, MO (March 20, 2020) – Sports have always been a common thread that brings communities together. And Kansas City is a true sports town where there is always a game to catch or a race to compete in. In challenging times like these, it can be difficult to fill the void left by seasons put on hold and events cancelled. When life returns to normal, we will gather together again in solidarity and in celebration of Kansas City, our teams, our fans – more united than ever.

Below, please find a joint statement from the Kansas City Chiefs, the Kansas City Royals, Sporting Kansas City and the Greater Kansas City Sports Commission & Foundation.

Sports unite us.
Sports inspire us.
Sports create connection & community.

Soccer fans, basketball fans, baseball fans, football fans – ALL fans love and appreciate the game. And Kansas City fans are the very BEST fans. These are unprecedented and challenging times – but rest assured, we WILL BE BACK.

The Cauldron will chant again. KC will be the College Basketball Capital of America again. Salvy will splash again. The sea of red will return to Arrowhead and Mahomes will break records again. In the meantime, take care of each other, be safe and considerate. Our thoughts are with our family of fans and we can't wait to compete for you again soon!
